TYNDINAGA RESERVE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Harvesting and threshing is going on in full blast; the yield is found to be fair but the prospect for good prices is discouraging to our farmers.

Thomas Blanchard, the west end market gambler, has been very successful this season and ready sale in Belleville for his crops.

The annual Sunday school picnic will take place on Tuesday the 9th inst. in the Parsonage

Grove. Tents for shade and fishing off the dock will make a change for the children whose day it will especially be. Dinner at one o'clock sharp.

The examination of the Sunday school children on the Reserve for prizes offered by a lady in England will be held on Sunday, the 14th inst.

child up to the Mohawk Institute, Bradford, last week for a residence of five years.

Mrs. and Miss Hensell from Trenton paid a short visit to the parsonage last week.

The Reverend Mr. Green kindly assisted the Missionary last Sunday.

A meeting of the chiefs was held on Wednesday last at the council house; business of importance was transacted.

A council of the grand sachems from all parts of Canada wound up with a big day in town, of which we can say nothing favorable as it brought grief to the police mill.

section of country.

Napanee are gone.

Mr. Archibald McCullough is erecting his new house, Mr. McConnell, of Kolin, has the contract.

Mr. N. Kennett, road surveyor of Richmond, sold two contracts on the South hills on Thursday last, $50 to be expended on the upper hill. The road for some rods is to be lowered two feet straightened with ditches on either side. This contract was awarded to Mr. Richard Nash. $25 is to be expended on new fences and a ditch is to be made to prevent the water carrying away the surface of the road and thus exposing flat rocks which were dangerous to teams drawing heavy loads of grain. The work was given to the

Mr. Airhart. These jobs are to be done within a month so that the road will be in good condition when grain is drawn out in the fall.

The great excitement of the week has been the riding of the goat. Passing through the village the other day, I met one

Don Pedro, who informed me that he had seen a female form clad in white garments riding up the south hill by moonlight the night before.

I thought the man was daff, but on crossing the bridge I met a man named Don Ricardo who told me that he had seen a Spaniard named Don Tomas Arthurs riding up the north hill by moonlight at midnight. I began to be puzzled and the next morning going along the road I met Mr. Spauls, a genuine Irishman, who told me, "By John, I saw the local Governor riding the goat across the dam at day dawn." On arriving at the village that morning shortly after I saw a real live goat riding and galloping in front of the Governor's residence, and I presume that the poor innocent animal together with some ideas about the Freemason's riding a goat had given too good a play to the imagination of some highly imaginative people, who think they know everything, sell statues, boom the markets and mour vs Rathbun arising out of a dispute as to the relative cost of driving their timber along a certain portion of the Trent river in the season of 1887. A formidable array of witnesses is set up on both sides.—Belleville On-pleasing manner. Mr. W. J. McGrath,

Sunday School Picnic.

The Sunday School of Christ Church, Mohawk St. Deseronto, held their annual picnic on Tuesday afternoon. There was a good attendance of children and the friends of the school. The weather was superb. The children having enjoyed a sumptuous feast the table was spread for their seniors, the tables being loaded with a supply of delicacies full equal in every respect to former similar efforts by the ladies of the reserve, as Mr. W. G. Eggar, THE TRIBUNE representative, and other visitors from Deseronto came to testify. The rest of the afternoon was spent in sports and games, liberal prizes being given to successful competitors. The married ladies' race was very exciting.
Rev. G. A. Anderson was upon the ground at all the afternoon and made himself and others happy by his genial presence.

Tyendinaga Agricultural Fair.

The Annual Exhibition of the Tyendinaga Agricultural Society will be held at Shannonville on Tuesday, Sept. 30th, and will be open to the townships of Tyendinaga and Thurlow. The directors have issued a very liberal premium list and everything points to a very successful fair. There is a tendency among some to belittle township fairs, but sober second thought has shown that these institutions are powerful educators and that they give an impulse to agriculture in a great variety of ways.
Every progressive farmer in a township should be a member of the township agricultural society and should by his personal co-operation aid the directors in their efforts to make the exhibition a success. We trust that the farmers of Tyendinaga will give their own fair a liberal support and that they will be found competing in all departments of the exhibition. We may remark that after Sept. 27th the membership fee will be $2.00.
The officers of the society are: D. Mc-Farlane, President, Shannonville; D. Mc-Leannan, Treasurer, Shannonville; A. Mc-Leannan, Secretary, Melrose. The Secretary will be glad to give all information to any inquiring and will be at home near Melrose on Saturday, Sept. 27th, and in Shannon-ville, on Monday, Sept. 29th, to receive entries.

THE SEAL FISHERIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—The Alaskan Commercial Company's steamer Karluk has arrived from Petropaulofski, Siberia, with 42,000 seal skins. The Alaska company has an exclusive contract with the Russian government to purchase the skins along the Siberian coast. The Alexander, the vessel owned by the company, is expected in a few weeks with 10,000 skins. The schooner Leon is hunting seals in the Japan sea, and with her catch the total catch of the Alaska Commercial Company for the season is estimated at 60,000 skins. The company's contract with Russia expires this year, and there is one opposition, it is stated to its renewal.
Six of the crew of twenty of the poaching sailing schooner C. H. White were brought here by the steamer Karluk. While in Russian waters eighteen men from the White, three in each boat, were sent out sealing. A fog came up and they lost track of the schooner. After rowing about for two days, two boats reached Copper Island and surrendered to the Russian officials. Nothing was seen or heard of the other men, and it is eared they were lost.

THE TEUTONIC WON.

The White Star steamer Teutonic came in winner Wednesday in her great ocean race with her rival, the Japan liner City of New York. The Teutonic passed Dun's Rock lightship at Queenstown at 3:11 p. m. on the 4th inst., and arrived off the Sandy Hook light at 7:05 a. m., making the run between the two points in 5 days 20 hours and 54 minutes. The best previous run of the Teutonic between the same points was 5 days 19 hours and 5 minutes. The best run of the trip was that made Tuesday, 509 miles. During the first three days the Teutonic encountered strong south-west winds and heavy head seas, which prevented her making as good time as she could have done under more favorable weather. The ocean racers kept well together until Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, when the Teutonic last saw the City of New York.

The City of New York passed Sandy Hook at 10:06 o'clock Wednesday morning. She passed Roche's Point at 2:20 p. m. on Thursday, the 4th inst., making the trip in 6 days and 21 minutes. Roche's Point, from which the City of New York dates her start, is about six miles further distant than Dun's Rock.

GEO. E. SNIDER,

Mr. Geo. Snider will occupy the house, on Edmund street, vacated by Mr. Wartman.

A student of Albert College will preach morning and evening at the Methodist church.

We are to make arrangements so that you can attend the fair at Shannonville on Tuesday Sept. 30th.

The foundations for Mr. G. Cole's new block are completed and work has commenced on the walls.

Wm. Markle shaved the side of his left hand in a single machine at the Cedar Mill on Thursday. Dr. Yeomans dressed the wound.

Dalton Holmes had the fingers of his left hand badly lacerated on a saw at the Cedar Mill on Thursday. Dr. Yeomans dressed the wound.

You may shoot duck, partridge, snipe, plover and waterfowl from September 1st to November 15th, and deer from October 25th to November 15th.

The Rathbun Company are the authorized agents of the Canada Salt Association for this section of Ontario. They sell salt by the car load, barrel or in bulk.

Alex. Moon, whose arm was so badly cut at the Cedar Mill, is rapidly recovering. The attending physicians think that he will retain the full use of his arm.

Mr. Heaton, M.P., for Canterbury has been interviewing Sir John Macdonald and the interest of a penny postage between all the English speaking countries.

More than 500 vessels of all classes have passed through the Murray canal this season. Next year will undoubtedly show a greater number than this.

Mr. P. J. Hill observed a partridge about the barns of the Bay View Ranchette the other morning, and Mr. P. Dwyer shot it. It is unusual thing for partridges to fly near dwellings.

Mr. James Gault has purchased a new two-seated carriage to add to his livery. The carriage was purchased from Mr. R. Winger, of Pictou, and took the first prize at the Pictou fair.

Mrs. Varine, Mrs. Bentler and Miss Cronk, of the Society of Friends, of Bloomfield, conducted the services in the Methodist church, on Sunday. Both services were very interesting and large audiences greeted the ladies.

Inspector Slattery of weights and measures was in town on Saturday and visited the market where he found the scales were all destroyed. He also compelled some parties to have their scales and steelyards tested. He is an efficient officer.

Mrs. Dalton is already making preparation for an extensive display of millinery this fall. She has secured the services of a first class milliner from a leading wholesale house in Toronto and will be able to satisfy all in the future, as in the past, who trust her for their patronage.

Seventeen of the leading manufacturers of agricultural machinery have decided to go to the custom of exhibiting their manufactures at fall fairs and have so instructed their agents. They find in newspaper advertising a more judicious method of bringing their machinery before the farming community.

Look out for bogus quarters. The city of Toronto has been flooded with them lately, and some of them will find their way into the country. They may be detected by the ring, and also on account of the edge not being perfectly milled. They are not earthy like to anyone, and parties attempting to pass them are liable to be placed under arrest.

On the last instant the law making a misdemeanor for boys under 16 years of age to use tobacco in any form on the streets or in public places in the state of New York, went into effect. This form of paternalism may be all right, but it will never quite equal in efficiency the paternal knee and a judiciously handled shingle.

Mr. W. W. Carter has removed what remained of the building after the fire on the corner of Main and Third street, and will immediately put up a two story brick building 40x60 feet which will contain his market and two tenements. His market will be on the corner facing Main street and occupy about one-fourth of the ground floor. He will put in a first class refrigerator for the preservation of his meats.

The Salvation Army gave a farewell to Capt. Cardiff and Lieut. Davidson, on Sunday night. The service was a very interesting one and much interest was manifested. The two officers proceeded to Toronto on Monday, to enjoy the celebration of the eighth anniversary of the founding of the army in Canada. They will soon be stationed in new fields where they leave with the best wishes of a large number of people who are desirous of their prosperity and a continuance of their usefulness.

A VISIT TO MANITOBA.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

No more pleasant summer trip, can perhaps be enjoyed than that in the pleasures of which your correspondent recently participated in journeying from this our highly favoured Bay of Quinte to that great Prairie West, which has the name of Manitoba, in year, by year becoming more widely known, not only throughout the British Empire, but also in the Old World as a most attractive and promising home for the intending emigrant, desirous of sharing in the pleasures of a new life. What a field here for settlement! Such will be the lasting impression produced in the travellers mind, as they gaze upon the wide and fertile plains will no doubt at once call to mind the glowing terms in which, long since, Lord Selkirk, and in later days notably Lord Dufferin, painted the future of Manitoba and the N. W. territories. Predictions which the visitor of to-day can hardly doubt are even now hastening towards their fulfilment. It may be here mentioned that the name Manitoba is generally regarded as being derived from the Ojibway words, Manito, Great Spirit, and Waba, straits between lakes, or a word meaning elbow.

The tourist, on reaching Manitoba, desirous of a word in scenery—cannot do better we think than choose the lake route, as being the great natural highway to the Western land of promise. Having made this selection, we left Toronto by rail at midday and passing on through the rolling country well timbered, and in parts, exhibiting good farms, we reached about 3 o'clock Owen Sound, the point of embarkation for Port Arthur, whence it is distant from 525 miles. Owen Sound has a population of about 6000 and is situated at the mouth of the Keweenaw or Sydenham River. The wide area of landlocked water forms a magnificent roadstead, and makes it the favorite point of departure for Manitoulin Island and all places on the Georgian Bay, of which it is the chief port. Here the traveller taking one of the powerful and well equipped, Clyde-built vessels, Alberta or Athabasca, of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Line, proceeds upon his voyage. Steaming out of Georgian Bay, with its many bold headlands and leaving behind Cape Huron—our gallant ship soon ploughs the waters of Lake Huron—

And seems to dare the elements to strife.
The following day our eyes were delighted with the beautiful scenery of Garden River, and by midday we reached St. Marie or "Soo" as it is popularly called (affording passage between Lakes Huron and Superior) is reached. There is a flourishing town on the American as on the British side while the latter will no doubt receive increased impetus when the Canadian traffic now passing through the middle of American territory has been diverted into our own canal, at present in course of construction. At this point, the C. P. "Soo" Railway, which diverges from the main or transcontinental line at Sudbury, crosses the rapids by means of a splendid iron bridge, thus giving access to the mouth of Lake Superior. Duluth and other American centres of commerce.

What changes have here taken place in the means of transportation, what triumphs have human genius gained over nature's opposing forces, since Jesuit Missionaries, and a half a century ago, have left a manly toilsome portage pushed their adventurous way through these upper lakes to the N. W. To-day by means of Railway bridges and canals, we quickly pass and sail around the intervening barrier. But to resume our voyage. The Soo is passed; we have entered and are crossing the wide waste of waters fully called Lake Superior. In gazing over its illimitable expanse, what food for reflection the prospect to the mind presents. The thought of the untutored mind of the aborigine, it should have appeared as a deity to be adored. What beauty, majesty and awe the wide extended waters of the lake, which are incomparably lovely was the sunset of that August evening. All night we steam our course across the mighty waters, internally congratulating ourselves that the stormy winds have not arisen to mar the pleasure of the voyage over this great "unsalted sea."

But we are not alone. In the distance the average Landseman's slumbers were disturbed, on such an Ocean Lake by the sudden appearance of a "till Nor-wester." But really comes the morning and the morning we see Thunder Cape looming up before us. At the eastern entrance of Thunder Bay it stands some huge and central to bar the way, or as it were to protect the fabulous treasure which is so long concealed in the famous Silver Islet behind it. To the west some 20 miles distant another beautiful upland knoll as McKay's mountain meets the eye, while a third huge rock called Pisces, lies at the entrance to the Bay. Passing by these elegant giant the shores of many an Indian Legend, we reach Port Arthur formerly called Prince Arthur's Landing. It is needless to add the town is a picturesque situated and will doubtless become a fashionable watering place for the "future millions of Manitoba" as well as a busy centre of trade. After travelling so long in a westerly direction and with mind full of Manitoba, it is rather startling to reflect that I am still within the bounds of Ontario, though over 700 miles from the capital! But again we take the train and hurry along with Winnipeg, as the objective point in our minds, still 450 miles distant. With renewed interest we watch quickly passed objects of interest, the Village of Fort William a Hudson Bay Co's post of over 100 years standing but now of course surrendered to the altered demands of trade. The fur house of the old Fort (it is said) is at present used as an Engine House for the great coal docks, and some of the largest grain elevators in the world over-shadow all surrounding country.

From this point to Winnipeg the railway may be said to traverse a wild unbroken region of rock diversified with many beautiful lakes and swiftly flowing rivers a region undoubtedly containing some valuable forests and probably much mineral wealth but at present the country is practically uninhabited and its resources, (whatever they may be) utilized. In some of the streams which the lakes empty into, such as the Kaministiquia, Mattawan, and Winnipeg there is said to be excellent trout fishing while the lakes are filled with wild rice. Surely a sportsman's paradise. There are here some striking water falls, particularly the Kakabeka where the Kaministiquia leaps from a height exceeding that of Niagara. The next point of interest that may be referred to is Port Portage, in important town at the outlet of the charming Lake of the Woods, a very large body of water completely studded with islands and forming a delightful resort for sportsmen and pleasure camping parties from Winnipeg and elsewhere. The waters of the lake bursting through a narrow rocky ridge and falling into the Winnipeg River. This splendid natural water power is being utilized for good purpose, as the great Keweenaw four miles by daily capacity of 1200 barrels, attests.

But a few hours more by rail and we strike the Red River and with it the first appearance of a prairie country. About 20 miles from Winnipeg is East Selkirk, (originally intended as the site of a city); from this point the railway follows the river which is crossed by an iron bridge, and at last Winnipeg, the wonderful city of the west, phenomenon in the history of the world. "The great Lone Land," to-day it is a large city, the main source of supply for the whole North West and fast becoming an important railroad centre. It is situated at the junction of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers, and with the development of the country's rich resources must necessarily become a vast commercial emporium, while its peculiar natural position nearly equidistant from the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans must always endow it with much political significance. Its citizens are justly proud of its rapid progress and never by any chance underestimate its destiny. Its chief or Main street is a wide and magnificent thoroughfare, while the public buildings of Winnipeg would do credit to any city in the Dominion, but so much has been written about this capital, as to render further notice unnecessary, especially as we are drawing this sketch to an end, some remarks must be made upon the agricultural resources of Manitoba, which as every one knows will ever be the foundation of the prosperity of the province.

In order to properly appreciate its farming capabilities, which have fallen to the writer's lot of travelling by the different lines of railway, radiating from Winnipeg and then from the city to the prairie, and through those districts best known as wheat producing centres, such as Brandon, Portage, Carleton Place, Rapid City, Neepawa, Minnesota besides Southern Manitoba generally. When you see here and there the enormous fields of grain belonging perhaps to one man, as far as example, (near Brandon) see the sanderson farm, with 1800 acres of grain and 1500 of alfalfa, and a splendid manure house, with a yield of probably thirty bushels to the acre, you can quite understand the success attending an enterprising farmer's efforts and the enthusiasm of Manitobans generally over their country. The wonderful fertility of the soil is owing to the great depth of the alluvial deposit of rich vegetable matter reaching sometimes to the depth of four feet. Like other lands, Manitoba has its drawbacks of course, but still a country to be reckoned with, an acreage under crop this year of only 1,092,792 acres and yet which will probably have some 10 million bushels of wheat to export—it must be admitted can afford to have some bad seasons. Many are the gifts that a bountiful Providence has showered upon the "prairie province," which with prudence, experience, skill and industry will, (within one year with another) we are assured, secure to the tiller of the soil, not only a good living but also a handsome competence.

In addition to wheat "which from its flinty hardness and full kernel is a specialty of the Canadian N. W." oats, barley, maize, and native grasses in great variety as seen at the Government Experimental Farm, at Brandon, are the staple products of the land, but including of course all kinds of roots which specially flourish in this virgin soil. While the usual small fruits found in gardens are indigenous to Manitoba with many added varieties of berries. In many parts of the country timber belts, containing the ash, the ash leaved maple, scrub oak, willows and elm abound, thus relieving the somewhat monotonous character of the treeless plains.

To all such as feel compelled through necessity of fortune, to leave fair Ontario, seeking a new home, and good farm lands and a prospective home of plenty, we would say before settling elsewhere, do not fail of visiting Manitoba and seeing for yourself the advantages of this land. We doubt if any other part of the world can show better yields per equal area of land, and which especially flourish in this virgin soil. While the usual small fruits found in gardens are indigenous to Manitoba with many added varieties of berries. In many parts of the country timber belts, containing the ash, the ash leaved maple, scrub oak, willows and elm abound, thus relieving the somewhat monotonous character of the treeless plains.

It is very rarely that a man accomplishes any good, but it is a fact that the cause of justice has been promoted by the use of rum. A man who murdered a policeman at Scranton, Pa., eluded the vigilance of scores of detectives who were on the search. A few days since at Scranton, Pa., he was drunk, committed an assault, was arrested, and, while in court, was identified.

During all ages the strange fashion of mummifying and adorning the human eye has been practiced, and has been in vogue all over the world. It has especially enjoyed great favor among the Greeks and Romans, and the Carthaginians the earing was worn as commonly by men as by women.

The new serpent has been rather late in appearing this year, but he has been seen, with black covered with a hard shell of a dark brown color, with stripes a few shades lighter, giving it much the look of the lights and shades on a corrugated iron surface. As usual, the serpents are feared to be so the monster, they got away as fast as possible.

A STRANGE MONSTER SEEN IN THE BAY.

Mr. Joseph Covert, a farmer who lives near the head of Big Island, brought to Monday the intelligence that a marine monster, supposed to be a sea serpent, had been seen observed in that locality. SUDBURY MINES.

Ben Vanorman, engineer in the Sudbury mines who at one time worked in the Coe Hill mines, was in Belleville last week and had a word to say about Sudbury. There are five mines in operation, the Evans, Murray, Silby and Copper Cliff, being under one management; the Blizard being owned by another company. The Copper Cliff is the largest and best paying, employing some 600 men. The shaft in this mine is 600 feet deep. A drift of 200 feet has been made and a large chamber has been opened. Air drills are used and the ore is smelted near the mines and shipped in barrels. This summer a diamond drill was set to work to sink a test hole and has, to the present time, gone down 200 feet. The first 200 feet was through rock which was hard and struck and the drill is still working in that metal. This test hole is about half a mile from the Copper Cliff mine and the supposition is that the ore forms an uninterrupted bed between the two openings, and how far it extends is only a matter of conjecture. The supply of the best nickel ever produced seems inexhaustible. The town is growing rapidly. -Ontario.

THE PASSING OF SUMMER.

When summer kiddles purple fires, That run along the foggy spires, And set the meadows all aglow With blaring torches in a row, Those July days beneath the feet June grass that once was fair and sweet Grow crisp and grey, then quick like flees The locusts offer of late withered leaves. And sets within her meadows glad A host of fellows emerald clad. These are the musicians of the field, When nesting birds are song-burst wild, Take up the strain, and from their bows In tiny tufts the music flows, A mimic music, shrill and thin, Breathed out from civil violin. Then "Katy" comes with her old ways And argues through the August days, And last in daisies chon drest The summer's very latest guest. He winds his clock and counts the time That sunny fields and skies may rhyme, For well he knows the old-time friend, That summer's reign is at an end. And numbers with his tick, tick, tock, Each day of grace. The little clock Beats out the long September hours, Beats out the death of all the flowers, Numbers each falling leaf and brown Until it too at last runs down, And then with vanished birds and bees The summer flies across the seas. —Annie Bronson King, in Harper's Weekly.

ROYAL FISH.

While old and wise heads of the United States and England are carrying on a dignified quarrel over the ownership of the seal in Behring Sea, let me tell you something about royal fish.

You know that Kings and Queens have many rights and prerogatives. Well, one of these prerogatives of English rulers in olden times related to royal fish. Royal fish are sturgeon and whale, which are considered the king of the sea. For this reason, "an account of their superior excellence," whenever one of these fish was thrown aboard a ship, the captain of the ship was to give it up without receiving any pay. However, the King had some ground for claiming these royal fish as his property, and it was he who guarded and protected the sea from pirates and robbers, and in those days there were very many of them.

The most peculiar feature of the custom of royal fish was that, while the whole of the sturgeon belonged to the King, only half of a whale did. For it was a prerogative, as it is called, of the Queen that the tail of the Queen's whale should be given to her. You was her property, while the head only was the King's. The reason for this division as given by the old records, was to furnish the Queen's whale with a whole tail, and this reason is more amusing than the custom is peculiar, for the whalebone lies entirely in the tail of the whale. But there are many more strange and amusing customs recorded in England's early laws.

This right to royal fish was considered of great importance, and was carefully guarded for many generations. It was also a prerogative of the Kings of Denmark and the Dukes of Normandy, and from one of these it was derived by the Princess of Wales, England.—W. R. S., in Harper's Young People.

MAIN STREET,

A well known grain buyer was seen going down Main street the other day with a large mule upon his arm, and a boy on either side of him. The mule was a fine one, we are told, but obtained in a most curious manner.

The various colored flags which adorned the High school last Saturday were the handkerchiefs of the students last night.
They knew no bounds, and such excitement prevailed that the flag rope was let loose, and it was with considerable difficulty regained. The boys lost their handkerchiefs but they don't care, they won the game.

Typewriting Fair.

The Tyendinaga Agricultural Society are making all preparations possible for a grand show at Shannonville on Tuesday, Sept. 30th. Entries are already coming in and the prospects are better than in former years for a large exhibit of farm produce. The cattle exhibit alone are informed is sure to exceed that of any similar fair.

The High School.

The gymnasium at the High School is now most complete, having had appliances placed in it for calisthenic exercises.
They consist of a chest exercising appliance, trapeze, horizontal bar, rings, dumbbells, pommel horse, etc. The large and commodious room in the basement is used for the exercises and good results are sure to follow.

The Car Works.

The Deseronto Car Works have commenced on an order of fifty grain cars for the C. P. R. and are turning out two each day. They are also to build a new kind of platform roller car to be used about the yard of the Rathbun Company. These cars are made with a turning platform on which are rollers so that a load of lumber will be pushed off the car in a moment, thereby not detaining the car or the loss of time in handling each piece.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Wednesday evening the choir and a number of the members of the Methodist Sunday School were invited to the residence of Mr.
A. A. Richardson where they were most agreeably entertained. During the evening Mr. G. A. Cole read an address to Miss Wartman and Miss Lake made a presentation of a handsome oval ring. The address was signed by Mr. Wm. Thurgeland on behalf of the choir, and by Mr. A. A. Richardson on behalf of the Sunday School. A number of those present spoke of the esteem in which Miss Wartman was held by all and the loss sustained by the church in her leaving town. The following is the ADDRESS.

Miss Wartman:—We the members of the Methodist choir together with the Superintendent of the Sabbath School desire, on this occasion, to express our regret that you are about to sever your connection with our choir and school, where your services for some years past have been so valuable.

We wish you prosperity and enjoyment in your new home, and pray that God may still make you the honored instrument of doing much for his cause.

We desire you to accept this ring as a slight token of our appreciation of the services you have rendered, and of the esteem in which you are held by us.

Signed on behalf of the choir and school.
W. THURGELEND,
A. A. RICHARDSON.

A DISASTROUS FLOOD.

We take the following from the Utica Daily Herald of Sept. 28. It will prove of interest as will be remembered that a number of Deseronto people are located in Lowville town, Ontario, since eight o'clock Friday evening. Rain fell in torrents nearly throughout the night and in the head of Valley street, and torrents of water swept through the street. William D. Austin who occupied the house on the north bank of the creek, had barely time to get his family from the house. He carried his wife from the house while the water was nearly to his waist.

Willie McHenry, an employee of Mr. Austin, had retired, and Paul Sunderhalt helped him to dress. By the time they left the house the water had raised to such a depth they could not reach the bridge, and they were driven back. Fortunately they reached a fence post, and a general fire alarm was sounded for assistance. Steadily the water rose, and despite the efforts of the creek to reach them with ropes, they were compelled to hang to the post for their lives.
Their cries for help were not heeded, and when the rescuers were only within a few feet of them, Sunderhalt's strength gave out, and he was swept down stream. The current, however, carried him close to shore, after going about ten rods, he was pulled on shore. The rescuing party later reached McHenry, who was clinging to the fence post, and he was safely landed on the shore.

Nearly the entire length of valley street, between the three street water, and most of the inhabitants have left their homes. The water soon receded and the worst was over. Hughes, Horton & Blackman's foundry and machine shop was completely submerged, and the electric light works was also partially under water.
Several houses on Valley street were started from their foundations, but none carried down stream. Two or three barns, however, were swept away. The remaining portion of the tannery, belonging to Hiram Gowdy in the northern part of the town, was carried away. This struck the flume at A. M.
Sear's grist mill, and carried it away. The mill proper was also quite badly damaged, and occupants of houses in that vicinity were surrounded by the rushing torrent. The creek was swept with all manner of timbers, and no doubt great damage has been done to property along its banks.

The flood has no parallel in the history of Lowville, but while the heaviest of water, and most of the inhabitants have left their homes, the water soon receded and the worst was over.

From a resident we have received the following account of the flood: Mill creek through the lower part of the town for about one half mile and a week ago you could walk across it in several places. It is thought that a cloud burst west of Lowville on Friday evening as the creek began to raise about 8:45 o'clock, and inside of fifteen minutes it had risen seven feet, flooding the lower streets and the houses on both sides of it.

The water carried one house about one hundred feet and lodged it between a barn and an elm tree. There were seven people in the house at the time, but all escaped. Logs, timbers and brush wood formed dams at the bridges, changing the course of the creek, and for one-half of a mile it is now running in an entirely new bed, part of the way down the middle of the street and part through gardens and door yards. The flood was a terrible sight, barns, pigs, calves, chairs, and furniture of all descriptions, were carried down stream. The damage is estimated about $15,000. A citizens meeting was held on Saturday and canvassers appointed to collect subscriptions in aid of the sufferers. It is expected that it is necessary to raise about $4,000 in order to relieve those in distress.
